

"Houston, we have lift off!"

Giddy Folks

I'm excited, no really excited to inform you that both Commodities and Stocks are now updating perfectly. YAHOOOOO.

Here's what you're gonna have to do:

1. Uninstall ARLT (Control Panel, Add/Remove Programs, Select ARLT, Remove)
2. Reinstall ARLT
3. Update Commodity Charts
4. Update Stock Charts

You should be cook'n with gas from now on...

Options

Re-read your welcome email, the one with your user name and password on it, and you'll see the instructions about where to get the daily High Yield Covered Call and Naked Put scan results. The next version of ARLT, that'll be ARLT 3.2, will have my Options Scanner built into the software, but for now, you need to go to the Members Area of the website to get the daily results. They are updated around the market close each day.

Here is the information that was in your welcome email:

As you probably know, options are my true passion so YES, they are included, however, for now you have to log in to the members area of the website to retrieve your daily High Yield Covered Call and Naked Put candidates where they are updated by 7pm EST Mon to Fri.

They will be available through my software within the next 3 to 4 weeks but for now, go to: <http://www.aussierob.biz/members/index.htm#> and use the following:

User Name: september

Password: goforit

Now some of you have not subscribed to this service so if you haven't take a look at it today as the User Name and Password will change on the 1st of Oct. You will see that this is an incredible service for the introductory price of only $9.95 per month. Similar services are selling for $99.95 per month. If you subscribe by the end of this week (I'll include the weekend to give you time) then I'll lock in the price as if you had subscribed to it with your initial subscription.

Aussie Rob

A WORLD LEADER IN TRADING SOFTWARE & TRAINING

This would lock in your total EOD (End of Day) data feed and scanner feeds to only $59.90 per month and you would get all future scanners and EOD data feeds included in that introductory price for Inaugural Subscribers. As I said in my initial email to you, this is my sign of appreciation of your past business and continual support.

A lot of people have emailed me saying how much they have appreciated what I have done for them in the past, well I want to reiterate that Kerry and I have certainly appreciated your support! If we all continue to help each other, we all win.

This is just the beginning folks, we've all got a really exciting future and I look forward to bringing you more good news shortly.

Until then....

Start studying and paper trading!

Kind Regards
The Aussies

P.S. Don't forget to uninstall then reinstall ARLT!

