

Giddy Folks

Crikey, another week's over and I thought it was only Tuesday!?!?!?

I've just completed my Stocks Watchlist and found the result quite interesting so I thought I might as well send ya's a quick update to explain it....

I have created 5 market scans to find good performing stocks. I put all the candidates in a database and then select the ones that appear in 4 or 5 of the scans. It's interesting to note that this week's scan came up with the lowest number of candidates in over 2 years of my running the scan. Hmmm, wonder if that means anything???? I guess only time will tell.

A great way to utilize my watchlist, especially the stocks that have made a big run up, is to wait for them to retrace and then enter on their next uptrend. Keep track of them and try papertrading this method to see if it works for you personally. Trading is all about cycles and trends. Watch for patterns/cycles to increase the probability of finding winning trades.

Check out what David from Colorado had to say...

Rob,

Why in the world did you ever get involved with the "I have deleted their name" folks?

They are still clueless compared to what you teach. In these 2 CD's, there is a huge difference in good content between them and the "I have deleted their name" DVD's. Even though the tone of your voice is the same, the content kept me awake. In the DVD's it was so basic I fell asleep. No offense about your tone of voice. It is as if you are reading to your daughter at bedtime. It is soothing and calming.

Those "I have deleted their name" folks have no clue to what is going on. They do not know how to deal with Volatility. You explained it and how to trade it. They list it, but they don't know what to do with it. I had heard rumors that they knew nothing about options until you came. Now from what I see, I believe it.

I'm excited about your future endeavors.

Thanks for all of your hard work.

David,
